Rumor Control

Rumors were slow for last month. There were some odd inquiries in the office from visitors to our community:

- Inquiry #1 – “Do you supply information on properties for sale in the community?” Uh, no. Not unless I get a three percent sales commission.
- Inquiry #2 – “Is this a gated community?” Yeah, come to think of it, how did you get in!

If you hear any good rumors, please send them to us to confirm or deny. – Kim James, Member Support

Heroes Among Us

Sinking Boats

On April 27, Randy Curtiss, our pump truck driver noticed that neighbors Rod and Leslie Jaques' boat was sinking. He called board members Richard and Dianne Bradford. Richard, Dianne and Ray rushed to the marina to help. Kiffani Iverson and her partner Eric were at their boat and also jumped in to help. Among them, they were able to bail out the boat enough so Eric's boat could tow the sinking boat to the launch area and it was saved.

Just a few days later, on May 16, Kiffani and Eric were shrimping off the south tip of Vashon Island and came across another boat that was sinking in high waves. Again, they stepped up to help several other nearby boaters. They called the Coast Guard and with everyone's help, they were able to save the mariners but sadly, not the boat.

Woman in Distress

Dianne Bradford was driving along Steamboat Island Rd when she saw a woman in the middle of the road who was in obvious distress. She stopped to help and called 911. While waiting for help, Dianne was able to cover the woman with a blanket and guide her off the road to Dianne's car. EMTs responded quickly and they were able to notify family members and take the woman to the hospital.

Gosling Saved by Kids

On May 18, Sandy Marsh noticed neighbor Jessica and her two kids Bianca and Owen watching a gosling alone swimming toward them. It was struggling and suddenly gave up and went under. It was drowning. Bianca rushed out and rescued it. They tried to reunite it with some other nearby geese who rejected it. Sandy offered a small box, and the family took the gosling home. The next day, the family took the little gosling to the Wildlife Rescue Center where it will be helped and released into the wild when old enough.

If you have stories for the newsletter about neighbors' good deeds, please send them to the office by the 21st of the month for publication. We can't guarantee everything will be published.

Have a great month and Happy Fathers Day, Dads!
